1. All doctors up to 40 years of age who have not yet served in the army are being called up for 15 months training. The doctors are summoned personally to the District Clearing Center (RKU) where each receives a sealed letter and is told to report with it at Ministry of National Defense (MON). After having filled out appropriate forms the doctors receive at the MON another sealed letter on which the name of the doctor is written together with the rank of medical lieutenant and the address: Officers' Proficiency Course (Kurs Koszownalacy Officerow) Medical Training Center, Lodz, Zeligowskiego Street. Doctors, dentists and pharmacists are directed to this course.
2. The course lasts between 10 and 12 weeks and takes place in the barracks in Lodz. After its completion an MON representative arrives, calls the candidates one by one, and appoints them to posts for practical training during the remainder of the 15 months period. The majority of those who attended the ninth Officers' Proficiency Course were assigned to the KBW (Internal Security Corps). All those assigned to the KBW were delayed until a Public Security (MBP) representative, a Capt. Witecki, from Warsaw arrived. He interviews each doctor separately, investigating his political views, examined personal records and then directed the doctors to their particular posts.
